PHILOSOPHY FROM FLO

Questions regarding scope of practice are always among the most frequent of those coming into the Board of Nursing office. Nurses are becoming increasingly aware of the responsibility to monitor their own practice. They are also receiving an undue amount of requests and/or pressure to increase the scope of their practice.

The reason for the frequency of calls is due in part to the very broad, non-specific language used in the Nursing Practice Act. Missouri is very non-descriptive in regard to the parameters of licenses and there is no "laundry list" of do's and don'ts with which nurses can feel secure in practicing.

One area which is constantly being questioned is the basic difference between an RN and LPN. The major differences delineated by definitions in the Practice Act are in use of the nursing process. All nurses are expected to gather information, both objective and subjective, to be contributed toward formulation of nursing diagnoses. The LPN's input is very valuable but according to the Boards interpretation of the law the RN is responsible for final decisions in determining the patients condition, establishing a nursing diagnosis, developing a plan of care and evaluating the effects of that care. LPN's are to collaborate in those efforts.

The Missouri Nurse Practice Act is intentionally non-prescriptive in regard to the scope of practice for both LPN's and RN's. Although it is somewhat more descriptive for RN's than for LPN's it is very open-ended for both. Broad, non-specific language allows all nurses to expand their practice through education, experience and additional training. If this was not true how would the profession grow? No growth could occur if their was a list of functions in the law or rules that could be performed, for in order to fulfill the mandates of the law a nurse could perform only those functions listed and nothing more. Any additional skills learned by nurses could not be legally performed until the law was changed to accommodate those additional skills.

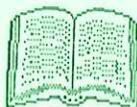

According to the Nurse Practice Act LPN's are expected to function under the direction of RN's and/or someone licensed in this state to prescribe treatments and medications. That statement would include physicians, dentists, podiatrists and optometrists. There are other professionals who may be included but that interpretation is not clear enough for me to be able to make a definite statement.

Since LPN's are expected to carry out directions given by RN's then that, of course, means they are to insure that implementation of the care plan is carried out. Data is to be collected and provided to the RN as to the patients response to the care given.

This office receives frequent telephone calls from LPN's inquiring about restrictions they believe this Board has placed on their practices. A great number of the restrictions placed on LPN's are placed there by employers rather than the Board of Nursing. Employers such as Hospitals, Nursing Homes and Home Health Agencies are regulated by other groups. Hospital licensing agencies,

Home Health licensing agencies, the Division of Aging, and federal hospital accrediting groups all have various guidelines and restrictions that employers must follow. All Employers may regulate and restrict a nurses practice so long as they do not require the nurse to violate the Nursing Practice Act.

It is the philosophy of the Missouri Board of Nursing that an LPN or RN should be able to perform more advanced skills than those learned in basic nursing education after receiving appropriate additional training or education. This provides for the advancement of nursing as well as meeting the needs of individual nurses for personal growth and expansion within the profession. This philosophy also provides for the needs of a variety of health care providers. Within that philosophy, however, is encompassed the ever present charge to the Board of the safety of consumers of nursing care, therefore, each of you must become aware of your individual scope of practice and guard it carefully. You, alone, can best determine what that is. You, alone, are best qualified to evaluate your ability, knowledge and skills and thus be aware of whether or not you possess capabilities which would allow you to perform a task or function safely.

COMMENTS FROM CAROL

PASS/FAIL EXAMINATION SCORE REPORTING

Licensed Practical Nurses who are licensed by examination in the US as a result of NCLEX-PN examinations administered in or after October 1988 and Registered Professional Nurses licensed by examination in the US as a result of NCLEX-RN examinations administered in or after February 1989 will receive examination results as a pass/fail designation only. This change in examination score reporting is a result of action taken at the August 1987 Delegate Assembly of the National Council of State Boards of Nursing and is now in effect. This decision resulted from a survey which indicated that NCLEX scores were being misused by some schools and some employers of nurses, as well as acknowledgment of the fact that the only appropriate use of NCLEX results is for boards of nursing to make licensure decisions. Major benefits of the pass/fail reporting system is an enhancement of understanding of the purpose of the test and a decrease in the potential for licensure examination scores to be inappropriate criterion for employment or for school admission.

There have been some questions raised by candidates at the examination site about this new method of reporting. Additionally, this office continues to receive requests from licensees to send certified copies of their examination scores to a third party, which indicates that there may still be a lack of understanding about what a score on a licensure examination actually represents.

The scoring process for each candidate is based on the number of correct responses. Scaled scores are no longer generated. Member boards and candidates receive only a pass or fail report. Scaled scores are not available at Member boards, the National Council Office or at the testing service. There seems to be some misunderstanding on the part of some candidates that there are still a few states which continue to receive scaled score reports on their candidates. This is incorrect; all jurisdictions administering the NCLEX-PN and NCLEX-RN examinations receive only pass/fail reports.

Passing candidates will receive a score report which indicates that they have passed. Candidates who fail will receive a score report which indicates that they have failed as well as a diagnostic profile. In the overall performance assessment box of the diagnostic profile, the letter P indicates the passing point. The candidate's performance is marked with an X. This provides a graphic representation of how close the candidate was to the passing point. This visual information will tell candidates how close to passing they are and should be easier to interpret than the old scaled scores.

If a candidate is interested in handscoring, they should contact their board of nursing as soon as possible. As in the old score reporting system, there remains in place a quality assurance mechanism in which all examination booklets which fall in a certain range around the passing point are rejected for automatic handscoring.

IT'S HIRING TIME AGAIN

We are approaching the time of year when many employers of nurses will begin to hire new graduates. The following information is provided to assist employers in the process of assuring licensure of new graduate nurses.

Q: Are new graduate nurses required to have a graduate temporary work permit before starting work in Missouri?

A: No. New graduates are covered to work under 335.081 (6) RSMO Exempted Practices and Practitioners clause from the time of graduation from an accredited school of nursing until the results of the first available examination after graduation are received.

As a matter of institutional policy, some Missouri employers require their employees to have a Missouri graduate temporary work permit before they begin employment if they are scheduled to write the examination in another state.

If an employer does not require this permit of new graduates who are writing the examination out of state, they may ask the graduate to provide evidence of graduation and evidence of being scheduled to write the examination, or they may opt to verify by telephone with that state's board of nursing.

Graduates who have applied to write the examination in Missouri will not be issued graduate temporary work permits, as the board has no mechanism to do so. Employers may telephone the Board office for verification of application for licensure by examination.

Q: Will the graduates be automatically licensed when receiving examination results?

A: Graduates writing the examination in Missouri will be licensed automatically on receipt of passing results. When results are received, the successful writer will be sent either:

- a. Results and a license. The ability to send a license with results depends on the availability of the state computer system to generate licenses at the time results are received. If licenses are not sent with results, they will follow in four to six weeks.
- b. Results indicating "Pass" and a letter of verification which are to be presented to the employer. This letter will be signed per stamp by Florence Stillman, Executive Director.

Graduates writing the examination in states other than Missouri will receive either licenses which are valid in that state, but not in Missouri or results and letters which authorize them to practice as licensed nurses in the state where they wrote the examination.

An exception is graduates who write the licensure examination in Illinois. These individuals will receive results and an application for licensure in Illinois. They are not automatically licensed by that state. Therefore, until they complete the application, submit their fee, and receive licensure from Illinois, they are not eligible for licensure in Missouri by endorsement because they are not considered to be duly licensed in another state, which is a criterion of interstate licensure.

Q: This is very confusing. Why can't all states be the same?

A: We agree! It is very confusing; however, because each state has its own Nursing Practice Act, each state will continue to have individual differences.

Q: What can I do as an employer to help my employees who are writing the examination in another state to get licensed in Missouri with a minimum of hassle?

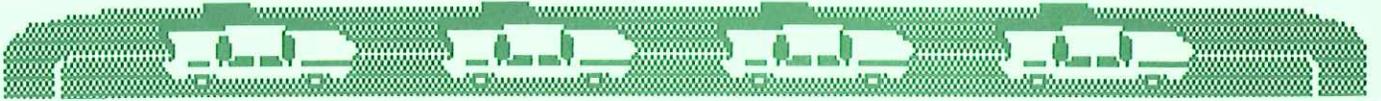

A: The best thing an employer could do for new graduates is to strongly encourage them to get in touch with the Missouri State Board of Nursing at once to get started on the licensure process before they even take the examination.

Unless a new graduate has made application with MSBN for interstate licensure, we have no way of knowing that they are out there practicing. Graduates are allowed by the board to have a 30 day grace period to submit their examination results and other necessary documents to the MSBN office and receive a Temporary Permit. If they have not obtained their Missouri Temporary Permit in this 30 day period, they are practicing nursing without a license, and can place themselves and their employers in legal jeopardy, as their practice is not authorized by law.

Many times new graduates are not familiar with the steps necessary to obtain Missouri licensure and mistakenly assume that they can practice in Missouri on their out of state license or on their results. This is unfortunate, because they will be required to stop work until they have secured Missouri licensure, which results in financial strain on them and a scheduling nightmare for the employer.

When a graduate makes application early, we can keep in touch with them when we know results are received and help them complete the process without the need to interrupt employment. We send reminder letters to those whose applications we have on file, and then call anyone who has not followed through within the required 30 day grace period.

We recognize that these nurses have many things on their minds; graduation, the examination, relocation, and learning a new job. The best way that you as an employer can assist them is to get them in touch with the board as soon as possible so that they are not frantically trying to assemble the required documents at the last minute.

NURSING PRACTICE DECISIONS

1. REQUEST: Can IV Certified LPN's program subcutaneous PCA pumps?

DECISION: Appropriately educated licensed practical nurses may program subcutaneous PCA pumps.

2. REQUEST: Does the scope of practice for registered professional nurses legally encompass teaching venipuncture to medical technologists?

DECISION: It is within the scope of practice for registered professional nurses to teach medical technologists to perform venipuncture and to delegate the performance of the procedure to them.

3. REQUEST: Can a registered professional nurse teach IV Therapy to health care personnel other than nurses?

DECISION: Registered professional nurses may teach IV Therapy to persons exempted in the Nursing Practice Act. It is assumed that the registered nurse will not teach it in order to assist or enable any person to practice nursing without a license.

4. REQUEST: Is it within the scope of practice for a registered professional nurse to hold the paddles during the administration of an ECT Treatment by the physician?

DECISION: Registered professional nurses or licensed practical nurses may hold paddles during the administration of ECT Treatments by a physician.

5. REQUEST: Approval of the following tasks to be performed by the personal care aide who has more training and supervision by the RN than basic personal assistance:

 1. Routine care of ostomies and external, indwelling and suprapubic catheters including changing and cleaning bags, soap and water hygiene around ostomy or catheter site, and colostomy irrigation for stable colostomy with no contraindicating conditions;
 2. Removing external catheters, inspecting skin and reapplying same;
 3. Administering prescribed bowel programs including use of suppositories and enemas with clients without contraindicating rectal or intestinal conditions;

5. REQUEST CON'T

4. Skin care and maintenance including care of stage 1 decubiti;
5. Applying medicated lotions or ointments to unbroken skin;
6. Use of lift;
7. Manual assistance with oral medications which are set up by a registered nurse;
8. Passive range of motion (non-resistive flexion of joint within normal range);
9. Deep breathing and cupping;
10. Oral cavity suctioning;
11. Administering dry, nonsterile dressings.

DECISION: With training and under the supervision of a registered nurse, personal care aides may perform the tasks listed above.

6. REQUEST: Board opinion regarding assignment of primary teaching responsibility to a licensed practical nurse.

DECISION: Licensed practical nurse under the direction and/or supervision of a registered professional nurse or physician may do initial patient teaching.

7. REQUEST: Board opinion regarding the independent practical of a licensed practical nurse.

DECISION: Based on the definition of practical nursing as written in the law, licensed practical nurses must always function under the direction of a registered professional nurse or someone licensed in this state to prescribe medications and treatments.

8. REQUEST: Is it within the scope of practice for a properly trained licensed practical nurse to interpret and chart on fetal heart monitor strips?

DECISION: Properly trained licensed practical nurses under the direction and/or supervision of a registered professional nurse or physician may interpret and chart on fetal heart monitor strips when caring for a labor patient.

9. REQUEST: Whether a registered nurse may take orders from a health professional other than a physician (e.g., physicians' assistants, pharmacist and/or another registered nurse)? If a physician's "agent" or "designee" is appropriate, who qualifies for this designation?
- DECISION: The Board of Nursing recognizes that messages are frequently relayed from physicians to others and acknowledges that process as a valid means of communicating physicians orders. Federal Statutes, regulations or rules may cause some type of policies to be established by employers whereby the physician countersigns or validates those orders in a timely way. The Board of Nursing believes that the Nursing Practice Act, which is the statute regulating nursing in Missouri, does not allow nurses to administer treatment or medications originated by anyone other than an individual licensed to prescribe in this state.
10. REQUEST: Under what circumstances may a registered nurse take verbal orders, as opposed to written orders? In those situations where verbal orders are appropriate, do verbal orders need to be followed by written orders within a specific time period?
- DECISION: Nurses may take verbal orders originated by anyone licensed to prescribe in Missouri. Statutes, regulations and policies may dictate otherwise but the statute does not negate it.
11. REQUEST: Whether a registered nurse may participate in nursing interventions over the telephone across state lines (e.g., a twenty-four hour on-call nurse in your state gets a call from a patient in a neighboring state)? Please consider this issue both from an out-of state nurse performing telephone nursing interventions for a patient in your state and a nurse licensed in your state handling a call from an out-of-state patient. Is the analysis different if the two state involved are not contiguous?
- DECISION: A nurse must be licensed in the geographic jurisdiction in which the nurse is practicing regardless of where the patient is located.
12. REQUEST: Whether a registered nurse may teach a non-professional certain nursing procedures (e.g., self-venipuncture, venous access for hemophiliacs, teaching parents to draw blood of their children)?

DECISION: The question is too broad to answer, however, we refer to sections 335.016 (8) (a) and 335.081 (2) and (3), RSMo 1986.

13. REQUEST: Whether a registered nurse may perform the following procedures in the home without a physician present:

- a) Fill or withdraw fluids from an implantable infusion pump?
- b) Monitor medication into epidural space?
- c) Monitor medication into the omyra reservoir?
- d) Insert and remove PICC (Percutaneously Inserted Central Venous Catheter")? and
- e) Remove sutures?

DECISION: It is within the scope of practice for a registered nurse with proper education experience and knowledge to practice with regard to subsection a, c, d, and e. Subsection b requires that a nurse administering any anesthetic agent must have formal education and experience in the administration of anesthetic agents.

14. REQUEST: Whether a registered nurse may refuse an assignment (e.g., participation in abortion procedures, care of an AIDS patient) and whether the answer to this question varies depending upon the circumstances (e.g., the nurse is pregnant and could possibly transmit an infectious disease to fetus)?

DECISION: A nurse has the right to refuse any assignment but the consequences may include disciplinary action against the license depending on the circumstances.

15. REQUEST: Whether teaching the patient is considered part of nursing practice?

DECISION: Refer to the Nurse Practice Act 335.016 (8) (9) RSMo 1986.

16. REQUEST: Whether, and under what circumstances, a registered nurse may accept and act on DNR order in a patient's file and, if a nurse may rely on DNR orders, whether the validity of the order is affected by a last minute change of mind by the patient or a family member?

DECISION: There is no reference to "Do Not Resuscitate" orders in the Nursing Practice Act, therefore, they would be treated as any other order. The answer may vary with the circumstances.

17. REQUEST: Whether a registered nurse may pronounce the death of a patient.

DECISION: Yes. It was the decision of the Board of Nursing at a regular meeting held December 2, 1987, that it is within the scope of practice for a registered nurse and a licensed practical nurse to pronounce death except when the patient is on life support and brain death is pronounced.

18. REQUEST: Whether a registered nurse may be involved in experimental therapies prescribed by the patient's physician or in therapies involving a drug prescribed for an unlabelled use for the drug?

DECISION: Yes, however, the Nursing Practice Act does not speak to this specifically.

19. REQUEST: Whether there are any guidelines for the administration of the following therapies commonly performed by home infusion companies:

- a) Parenteral and enteral nutrition?
- b) Chemotherapy (antineoplastic agents)?
- c) Morphine and other Schedule II drugs?
- d) IV antibiotics?
- e) Growth hormones?
- f) Desferal?
- g) Hydration?
- h) Factor VIII?
- i) Insulin?
- j) Aerosol pentamidine?
- k) Prolastin? and
- l) Terbutaline?

DECISION: There are not specific guidelines for registered nurses. Enclosed is a copy of the IV Rule for LPN's.

MESSAGE FROM MELINDA

COMPLAINTS/DISCIPLINE
COORDINATOR

The role of Discipline Coordinator for the Board of Nursing involves reviewing the complaints received, coordinating the investigative and disciplinary processes, carrying through with the disciplinary decisions made by the Board and educating employers, members of the nursing profession and the public of the Board's disciplinary process. Accomplishing these tasks often requires me to travel throughout the state. If you would like for me to present information on impaired nurses and/or the disciplinary process utilized by the Board to your facility or group, please feel free to call me at the Board of Nursing office.

MANDATORY REPORTING RULE

The Mandatory Reporting Rule, an official rule promulgated by the State Board of Nursing became effective in its amended form April 28, 1988. Since that time, there has been an increase in the number of complaints received at the Board of Nursing office. The number of complaints received in the fiscal year 1987-88 was 306 compared to 176 in the 1986-87 fiscal year. While a great number of these reportable complaints are alcohol and/or drug related there are many which cover areas including patient abuse and neglect, incompetency, criminal prosecution, fraud, etc.

The Board of Nursing considers any final disciplinary action against a nurse employed by a hospital or ambulatory surgical center, or the voluntary resignation of any such nurse choosing to leave the current employer rather than facing disciplinary action as a mandatorily reportable complaint. Any activity which is in violation of the Missouri Nurse Practice Act, Section 335.066, RSMo (1986), shall be deemed reportable to the Board.

An exception to the Mandatory Reporting Rule is when a nurse voluntarily participates in an employee assistance program or chemical dependency treatment and returns to work under conditions of a contract with the nurse's current employer.

While this rule does not include such employers as long term care facilities, home health care agencies, county health departments, blood collection agencies, etc., the Board greatly appreciates the voluntary effort these facilities have made to report such information.

If you have questions or concerns regarding this rule, please feel free to contact: Melinda Sanders, Discipline Coordinator, at the Board of Nursing office (314) 751-2334.

MANDATORY REPORTING RULE

1. The Board of Nursing shall receive and process any report from a hospital or ambulatory surgical center concerning any final disciplinary action against a nurse licensed under Chapter 335 or the voluntary resignation of any such nurse against whom any complaints or reports have been made which might have led to disciplinary action.
2. Reports to the Board shall be in writing and shall comply with the minimum requirements as set forth in section 383.133.2 and this rule. Such information shall include, but not be limited to:
 - A. The name, address, and telephone number of the person making the report;
 - B. The name, address, and telephone number of the person who is the subject of the report;
 - C. A brief description of the facts which gave rise to the issuance of the report, including the dates of occurrence deemed to necessitate the filing of the report;
 - D. If court action is involved and known to the reporting agent, the identity of the court, including the date of filing and the docket number of the action;
 - E. A statement as to what final action was taken by the institution; and
 - F. The Board of Nursing will assume that all reports received from hospitals or ambulatory surgical centers will be treated as under 383.133.
3. Any activity that is construed to be a cause for disciplinary action according to section 335.066, RSMo (1986) shall be deemed reportable to the Board. Nothing in this rule shall be construed as limiting or prohibiting any person from reporting a violation of the Nursing Practice Act directly to the State Board of Nursing.
4. In cases where a nurse voluntarily submits to an employee assistance program or to a rehabilitation program for alcohol or drug impairment, this action is exempt from the reporting requirement provided that participation in the employee assistance program or rehabilitation program is part of the nurses contract with the nurses current employer.
5. In response to a written or verbal inquiry from a hospital or ambulatory surgical center regarding reports received by the Board on a specific nurse the Board shall provide the following information:
 - A. Whether any reports have been received.
 - B. The nature of each report.
 - C. The action which the Board took on each report, or if the Board has taken action the report.

MANDATORY REPORTING RULE - CONTINUED

6. Each report received shall be acknowledged in writing. The acknowledgment shall state that the report is being reviewed by the Board or is being investigated and shall be referred to the Board or an appropriate Board subcommittee for consideration. The institution shall subsequently be informed in writing as to whether the report has been dismissed by the Board, or is being referred to legal counsel for filing with the Administrative Hearing Commission or for other legal action. The institution may be notified of the ultimate disposition of the report excluding judicial appeals.

Auth: Chapter 335, RSMo (1986). Original rule filed Aug. 6, 1987, effective Nov. 12, 1987. Amended: Filed Jan. 8, 1988, effective April 28, 1988.

2. Unanimous decision that advanced practice needs to be defined by the task force. Board staff was instructed to collect definitions from other states and report findings to task force. Board staff was also instructed to find out if advanced practice is addressed in statutes and/or rules and regulations of other states.
3. Unanimous decision that advanced practice task force not expand at this time.
4. Board staff provide task force with "Nurse Specialty Rule" filed in 1981 and any other pertinent information in regard to that withdrawn rule.
5. Next meeting of the task force be scheduled for March 18, 1989.

VISIT WITH VADA

NURSING EDUCATION COORDINATOR

Last December I had the pleasure of attending the National League of Nursing's conference in Chicago titled "Curriculum Revolution: Reconceptualizing Nursing Education". As I prepared a report for the Board members I wondered if there weren't some educators (unable to attend this conference) who might be interested in what is "The Curriculum Revolution". The following synopsis is my view of the presentations at this conference. See what you think!

"Curriculum Revolution: Reconceptualizing Nursing Education" is the theme for all of the presentations of papers at this conference on nursing education. Sr. Rosemary Donley borrows a phrase from President Bush when she states, "We need a kinder and gentler health care system and a kinder and gentler method of educating students". The tone of the conference is not redesigning nursing curriculum, but rather one of change. "Change" to mean less control of students, new teaching strategies, more student involvement in the design of "their" program, more independent student projects, heavier emphasis on ethics and value clarification, with some surprising changes in curriculum content.

David Allen discusses our present day method of educating nurses where students are seen as "raw material" coming to the classroom as though they are devoid of experiences in various roles, ie; race, gender and class. He feels the student role needs to be debated. Students could have more interaction and control over their educational goals. He asks the question, "Who should decide what needs to be in nursing curriculum? What criteria should be used? Can we add more content or rearrange its hierarchy?" Allen adds, "to increase content or redesign the curriculum would be rather like rearranging the deck chairs on the Titanic of nursing education".

Jean Watson, PhD., University of Colorado, explores the need to create a new health system. She discusses the concept of "caring" as the dawning of a new system. She refers to this as "nursing reclaiming its content". Her presentation is directed toward the need for "caring" in education. She describes current nursing curriculums as heavily laden with sciences, whereas, the "Caring" curriculum is heavier in the basic fields of study, ie; music, arts, languages, as well as, sciences. There should be increased emphasis on curriculum structure, intellectual skills, critical thinking, restoration of fundamental values and dedication to life-long learning. The outcome is a holistic person in nursing who is able to care for a holistic patient.

Nancy Diekelman identifies the need to "explore new roles for educators/students" rather than new curriculum models. She too advocates student participation in their curriculum development by allowing them to make decisions that are available to them.

"Nursing is the only profession that expects to have a fully professional practitioner out of a baccalaureate program". Bevis points out, that 57% of graduates are ADN nurses and 10% are diploma nurses. She calls our attention to the fact that 60% of new graduates do not possess their first degree in nursing. "Does professional nursing education begin or end with a baccalaureate degree?" is queried by Em Olivia Bevis in her presentation.

Nursing may have to let go of some content. Medical Science is high on technology. The medical professional will continue to attempt to keep pace with the technology explosion. However, Bevis believes that nursing must continue to build on "caring", not necessarily the medical model. She concludes there must be an altering of criteria for National and State Board approval of nursing programs to allow nursing to undergo these change possibilities. Additionally, she emphasizes the need for an altered role for nurse educators. Nurse educator's education needs to be specific to nursing.

Questions arise regarding why new graduates and experienced nurses are not staying in nursing? Why are new graduates having so much difficulty with nursing socialization? It is debated that one element of this complex issue is that our students are taught in a world of idealism, yet when they go to the clinical area they are measured against seasoned nurses who are not practicing in a vacuum of idealism, but rather a reality of constraints and high technology.

Gloria Clayton's presentation discusses the concept of preceptorships in nursing schools. Carol Lindeman, an advocate of clinical rotations as the most powerful component in nursing education, states that students are learning in an ideal world, but on clinical rotations they are functioning in the real world. She espouses, "nursing education must listen to the real world". The real world is shockingly different from the ideal world. This disparity contributes to nurses' disenchantment with nursing. When nursing schools continue to teach the nursing process with disregard to the actuality of situations, then how does a new nurse learn to cope with the realism that nursing care is directed by federal and third party reimbursements and that acute care is based on reimbursable services only. There is often no room for NCPs and nursing diagnosis. Only the things that can be reimbursed by Medicare are provided.

This was a thought provocative conference. One could envision advanced practice in nursing as being the rule more than the exception. The Conference advocates a move away from the medical system model into a totally independent profession. Jean Watson, University of Colorado, has a curriculum designed on the "Caring Phenomenology".
